Climate Change Centre
Reading (CCCRdg)

Press Release

CCCRdg will be representing Climate Change learning activities in the high street Reading on the 23rd of May

.Come down to learn about the problems, that climate change is causing in our local community and further afield, and what we in the local community are doing, and can do to help tackle such matters.

There will be tons of sustainably sourced, up to date information for people to keep pace with the fast moving issue that is Climate Change. From what we as a country are doing with regards to renewable sources of energy compared to our European neighbors, to the changing climate and how it will affect us in the modern environment.

There will also be a guest appearance from local impressionist Josh Berry who will be giving celebrity endorsements for actions against climate change, from stars such as Tom Daley, Ben Fogle, Andy Murray, Brian Cox and many more (note they are all Josh Berry!)

We will also be unveiling our school low carbon project “School.CO₂lutions”.Which will include a range of initiatives from ‘Dragons Den’ style projects to practical experiments harnessing the power of solar energy; finishing in March with a finale Low Carbon Day event: a competition that will spread further than just our target 10 schools across the two boroughs, but into the rest of the community, ensuing a Bracknell vs Reading energy reduction competition,
